

Previously known as Intelligent Corporate Eyecare by Duncan and Todd, SEE was founded by opticians and built as a dedicated service specifically for corporate eyecare as part of the Duncan and Todd Group of opticians and optical services.

Prior to Duncan and Todd Corporate, Caledonian Optical - the lab in part of our group - had already begun offering safety eyewear serving mainly Aberdeen-based oil and gas industry clients. As opticians, in response to changing legislation further detailing employers' responsibilities towards eyecare, we saw a need to offer a cost-effective, convenient way to address these requirements. It was from this need that we built what's now known as SEE.

Founded by opticians. It's our focus. It's our speciality.

That expert knowledge and in-depth industry understanding remains at the heart of our business. We know the industry; we understand optical care, and we have an impressive client list to prove it. Since the introduction of the Health & Safety Display Screen Regulations in 1992, we've worked with companies across the UK and Ireland from the public, private, educational and voluntary sectors: regularly serving employees working at home, in offices and call centres.
